Los Angeles-based foreign sales company Cinema Management Group has picked up all remaining international rights to "La mujer de mi hermano" (My Brother's Wife), the erotic drama released by Lionsgate in the U.S. last year.

Directed by Peruvian helmer Ricardo de Montreuil and produced by Stan Jakubowicz, pic was released by 20th Century Fox across Latin America, where it grossed a combined $5.3 million. Film opened at No. 1 in Mexico, Venezuela and Peru.

"It will work perfectly in Europe and the rest of the world and in some ways will be riding on the wave of new Latino hits that have been performing so well internationally," said CMG chief Edward Noeltner, who will be screening the film in the Cannes Film Market next month. Rights to Europe and the Asia Pacific region are still available.

Pic starring telenovela thesp Barbara Mori grossed a modest $2.8 million in the U.S. CMG's new veep of acquisitions and development Jacqui Barcos, a former colleague of Noeltner's at Miramax Intl., brokered the deal.
