Cinema Management Group (CMG) has signed up as the exclusive international sales agent for the Simon Wiesenthal Centre's documentary film production unit Moriah Films.

CMG will bring two new Moriah productions to Berlin as well as Moriah's previous Oscar winning documentaries, 1997's The Long Way Home and 1981's Genocide.

Ever Again, which explores the resurgence of anti-semitism in Europe, is screening in the Panorama section in the festival this year.

Beautiful Music centres on a relationship between an Orthodox Jewish woman and a blind, autistic Palestinian girl.

Simon Wiesenthal, the famed Nazi hunter who died on Sept 20 2005, was an enthusiastic supporter of Moriah Films, which was created by Simon Wiesenthal Centre dean and founder Rabbi Marvin Hier.

"With the passing of Simon Wiesenthal, now more than ever, Moriah Films' mission is to reach out to audiences who are not familiar with the events of the past century," Hier said. "We are looking for our new relationship with CMG to help us expand on this goal."

CMG will handle foreign sales on Moriah's entire library award winning films including Unlikely Heroes, The Long Way Home, In Search Of Peace, Liberation, Echoes That Remain, and Genocide.

"We are honoured to now have the responsibility to bring these important films to the 2006 Berlin Film Festival and beyond," CMG chief Edward Noeltner said.

"These are timeless documents, which profoundly touch anyone who has the chance to see them."
